FOUNDATION
OF ORANGE COUNTY

President's Message Marty Burbank, President

As I sit to write this, it is already March 7, 2021. So many things are different this year.

It was only a year ago that we were learning about the Corona Virus. It was not something that gave us concern. It affected people who were thousands of miles away; victims were mostly only older cigarette smokers. We were lucky. We lived in California, a state where less than 10% of adults even smoke cigarettes. We lived in a country with arguably the best healthcare in the world. We will be safe here--we thought. There were all kinds of reactions. Some people believed it was all a hoax; others thought it was the end of times. Most of us were somewhere in the middle.

For a long time, no one seemed to know anyone who was touched by COVID-19. A year later, I am sure most if not all Roosters have been touched or have grieved the loss of a friend or loved one. Often without the chance to even say goodbye. In our family, we lost both of Seon's parents. We are grateful for all the love and thoughts we received from our fellow Roosters, who have offered their prayer and condolences. The economy tanked, and many of the restaurants that have supported the Roosters for years are still suffering. Many of the children that the Roosters love and support are now in greater need than ever.

But there is hope. Today there are several vaccines are making their way to the arms of Roosters and our families. Most Roosters have had at least their first shot. Gathering restrictions are still in place, but it won't be long before "all the clouds that lour'd upon our house shall in the deep bosom of the ocean [be] buried." We will meet together once again.

Our VP Kirk Adams will be securing lunch reservations for the Roosters Luncheon, and we can all be eating prime rib and cheesecake again. We will meet on Fishing Boats for the inaugural Roosters at Sea, Lowell Dickson Fishing Tournament and Fund Raiser, at the Orange County Food and Wine Celebration, and Traveling as a group to Argentina.

I will see you all at our next Luncheon on March 11 and next social on the Third (3rd) Thursday, March 18. As always, the Zoom Meeting ID is 7144259061.

March Luncheon Speaker

The speaker we have lined up for March will be a real treat. It will be James Austin, a humorist, stand-up comedian, singer, and dancer. James is a 22-year veteran of the entertainment business and has opened concerts for the likes of Elaine Page, Billy Ocean, Russell Watson, The Searchers, Union Gap and many more. He will be joining us from jolly old England, where he performs nightly at the destination hotel, Sinah Warren. He will be speaking about the entertainment industry during the pandemic and how entertainers have been keeping busy during these difficult times.

Charity Focus: StandUp for Kids

StandUp for Kids is a non-profit dedicated to ending youth homelessness, and will be applying for a Roosters Grant this year. The executive director, Justine Palmore, will give a five minute presentation at the Roosters April luncheon.

Who they are:

We are a caring community for homeless and at-risk youth ages 12-24 with a 90% success rate transitioning them from crisis to self-sufficiency. We give our youth a sense of safety, hope, and belonging through street outreach, success centers, mentoring, housing support and relationships with trusted, caring adults.

Warning Signs of Human Trafficking:

Human trafficking is often hidden in plain sight: be aware of its warning signs. Some indications that a person may be a victim of human trafficking include

- Appearing malnourished
  - Showing signs of physical injuries and abuse
  - Avoiding eye contact, social interaction, and authority figures/law enforcement
  - Seeming to adhere to scripted or rehearsed responses in social interaction
  - Lacking official identification documents
  - Appearing destitute/lacking personal possessions
  - Working excessively long hours
  - Living at place of employment
  - Checking into hotels/motels with older males, and referring to those males as boyfriend or "daddy," which is often street slang for pimp
  - Poor physical or mental health
  - Tattoos/ branding on the neck and/or lower back
  - Untreated sexually transmitted diseases
  - Small children serving in a family restaurant
  - Security measures that appear to keep people inside an establishment - barbed wire inside of a fence, bars covering the insides of windows
  - Not allowing people to go into public alone, or speak for themselves
- Information provided by the Polaris Project Trafficking Resource Center and Innocents at Risk.

The toll-free human trafficking hot line is 888-373-7888 or 911.

Charity Committee

The Charity Committee has met to begin the planning for the year. We will be meeting via zoom on the first Wednesday of the month, at 6 pm, beginning on the 3rd of March. We will invite all Rooster members to participate in at least one meeting in the year. We encourage the Ambassador members to attend most of the meetings, for that is an excellent opportunity to learn, or be reminded of, the Rooster's work with our charities.

Thad Sandford, Jeff Scheibner

Vetting of our charity recipients is critically important to our donors and to ensuring that we distribute our funds to the most deserving charity organizations, and this is particularly important this year due to the challenge of raising funds to support. To meet that challenge we are placing an increased emphasis on the role of the Rooster Advocate. Most charities without active Advocate support will not be awarded support from Roosters this year.

Proposed New Rooster Member – Frank Lehane (Sponsor: Dan Stone)

Francis Lehane (Frank), born at the foot of Signal Hill, Long Beach, became a resident of Westminster in 1965. Frank has lived in Anaheim (1983-1990), Fullerton (1990-2017), and now, the City of Orange. Frank went to Cook Elementary School, Westminster (grades K-6), Stacey Jr. High, Huntington Beach (grades 7-8) and Westminster High School (grades 9th to 12th).

Frank's wife of 30 years is a SurgiCenter accountant for Hoag, and their 29-year old daughter Stephanie is an actor in Los Angeles.

Frank is the founder of Safe Savings Options - Using Your Money's Power, and is one of only a handful of independent financial educators and advocates nationwide and fills a big space in his desire to make lasting, higher level impacts in peoples' lives. In July 2020, Frank published his first of 3 books. The first is titled From Broke to 6- Figures - Steps to Success in Business and Life which charts Frank's journey and tough lessons learned in the financial industry.

Frank and Kathy enjoy life away from work doing car trips up and around California's Central Coast. Trips to several of the states, Canada, Israel, France and England number among other adventures they've enjoyed. Frank loves to cook. Little-known fact: If you're ever caught in a pinch for a BBQ cook, Frank might be your man. He's not a bad fisherman, either. Another little-known fact about Frank is his native fluency of French he acquired in Quebec and France.

Frank earned a bachelor's degree from Cal State Long Beach. He is a 8-year member of the O.C. Jail Ministry where he volunteers as a Peace Officer Standardized Trained (POST) chaplain serving the inmates of Men's Central Jail and Theo Lacy Jail Facilities.

Roosters Feeding Program Feeding OC in 2021:

Due to the pandemic safety concerns and requirements, we are limited in our opportunities to volunteer at events. We will plan events and feeding options, but also expect to adapt to current times to include more options as permissible.

We had planned for a feeding event 3/13. However, Representative Lou Correa and his staff have been working on navigating the vaccine distribution, and they have not had time to organize the 3/13 event. So, we are postponing at this time and are working on a new date.

Remember, we always need volunteers to assist with the Feeding OC program, as soon as we are able to get active with it, so come and join us!

Roosters Socials - we're back!

And for our next hedonistic event...

Optional pre- or post-tour options for Buenos Aires.

A New Idea for Roosters to ponder...?

Abridged from: <https://www.philanthropy.com/article/new-nonprofit-helps-turn-fine-wines-into-charitable-donations>

By most standards, 2020 was not a “good year.” But in the world of wine, an idea was bubbling up that may bear philanthropic fruit in the years to come. Garth Hodgdon has worked as a sommelier in some of the country’s finest restaurants: Bouchon and the French Laundry in Napa, Per Se in New York City. As a brand ambassador for Krug Champagne, he traveled the country hosting dinners and other events that brought together great wines and connoisseurs.

In 2018, one of Hodgdon’s now colleagues attended a dinner where a high-profile wine collector mentioned that he had several hundred thousand bottles in his cellar with no real plan for what to do with them at the end of his life. “This collector said, ‘Wouldn’t it be great if there was an opportunity to turn this collection of wine I’ve amassed into something much greater by donating it to charities?’”

The idea stuck with Hodgdon — and he shared it with others. “Everybody was sort of blown away,” he says. “It wasn’t something that anyone was really doing.”

He started to form the nonprofit Legacy Cellar Foundation in 2019. But the effort really got off the ground when the coronavirus hit and Hodgdon felt a strong desire to do something to help.

From Wine Cellar to a DAF

Some oenophiles have been building their collections for decades — in some cases, more bottles than they know what to do with, Hodgdon says. “I’ve been in many, many cellars over the years where there’s 10, 20, 30 times the amount of wine that people could drink in their lifetime, even if they had help every single day.”

Here’s how it works: When collectors decide they want to donate, they sign a one-page contract stating their intention to give wine to the Legacy Cellar Foundation and its donor-advised fund. Hodgdon then compiles a cellar inventory and brings in a third-party appraiser to estimate the wine’s value.

After that, the Legacy Cellar Foundation takes possession of the wine and finds the best way to liquidate it — either through auction or direct sales to other collectors.

Once those sales go through, the proceeds go into the foundation’s DAF. The donor indicates which charity or charities should receive the gift, and the foundation transfers the funds in the donor’s name. Donors can also sign a bequest agreement, committing to leave their wine to the Legacy Cellar Foundation to liquidate for their desired charity after they die. So far, Hodgdon has helped roughly a dozen collectors make significant donations of wine, and a few more conversations are in the works.

Any wine collector could take their cellar to an auction house, sell the wine, and then donate the proceeds to charity. But auction houses often take a percentage of the lot. What makes the Legacy Cellar Foundation unique is its commitment to donate all of the cellar value to charity. The foundation is supported by private donors and doesn’t take a cut of the proceeds from sales of wine. It’s a win-win situation, he says. Auctions and other wine lovers get access to wines that they otherwise wouldn’t. And having the nonprofit handle the sale saves collectors hassle while maximizing the value of their wines.

The idea of donating a wine cellar has been appealing for donors without much cash flow, Hodgdon says. “The opportunity to take something that they already had in their possession and turn it into cash was a real eye opener,” he says. “This gives them the opportunity to reach their giving goals without necessarily using cash.”

A Story for Each Bottle

Hodgdon connected with the first Legacy Cellar Foundation donor through a friend who is a wealth planner. She made the introduction to the collector — a former wine importer and distributor — and Hodgdon went out to meet him and tour his cellar. “We talked about some of our mutual goals, what I was trying to do with the Legacy Cellar, and some of his philanthropic goals and ideas,” Hodgdon said. “He was very, very excited about donating.” That day they compiled a list of the bottles he wanted to donate, with the proceeds going to World Central Kitchen, the charity founded by chef and humanitarian José Andrés. The lot generated more than $500,000 for World Central Kitchen.

Currently, the Legacy Cellar Foundation’s donor-advised fund is not invested in the stock market. The goal is to get the money out the door as soon as possible after the wine has been sold, Hodgdon says.

Some people opt to contribute a portion of their cellar now and a portion later. In those cases, the collector holds onto the bottles to sell at a later date. “Wine appreciates just as well as an investment may, and sometimes more,” Hodgdon says.

The Accident Injury — Law Center —

Professional, Detail-oriented, and Governed by integrity:

Moses Yneges is the founder of The Accident Injury Law Center, a law office representing plaintiffs in personal injury cases. He never provides defense representation to at-fault parties. Representation is on a contingency fee basis, which means no upfront or hourly fees. Legal fees are collected at the end of the claim, when the other side pays either a settlement or a court ordered amount.

Call Moses to discuss any injuries that resulted from the following types of accidents: semi-trailer truck caused injuries or death, car versus car, any motor vehicle versus pedestrian, any motor vehicle versus motorcycle, dog bite, trip and fall, wrongful death, vehicle roll over, and vehicle seatback failure.

Just because an injury cannot be seen does not mean it is not there. Injuries to the spine and brain can sometimes be difficult to show. Moses has experience with representing clients with internal injuries such as traumatic brain injuries, ongoing pain in the neck that radiates to the arms, ongoing pain the back that radiates to the legs, and post-traumatic stress disorder.

Roosters Crow Newsletter

Thirty-four Years Of Friendship & Community Service

VOLUME 34
ISSUE
March 2011

What Came First.....The Rooster or the Egg?

Within the species of birds known as chickens there are the two genders - Hen and Rooster. A hen is a female chicken, and a rooster is a male chicken. The egg is the chick in the early stage of development. Even ancient philosophers like Aristotle \(384–322 BC\) and Macrobius \(395–423 AD\), debated the age-old question... Which came first? There really is a simple answer you know.

Thirty four years of Roosters! Happy 34th Anniversary my brothers. It was many years ago that the 20-30 Club conceded that they needed to grow up and do something worthwhile for humanity. As they aged out of their 30's and into their 40's, history has it; they became the Roosters of today!

"An organization that stands for friendship, fellowship charity and good times. It stands for busy, worldly men who take the time to give those less fortunate a helping hand. It stands for warmth, strength and shared laughter."

I think we know the creed well but alas.... What is our Mission?

I can't tell a lie. Thirty four years ago I was not there nor was I a friend to any of the Roosters. In fact, I would venture a guess, not all of the Roosters were friends of one another. Do people get together to be friends and then decide to perform charitable works on behalf of children, or do like-minded people have an affinity for one another? What came first... I believe the latter to be true. In general, people like to spend time with others who have common interests and ideas. Wouldn't that explain the Roosters? One hundred or so local businessmen who believe something should be done in the name of children. Protect the children, feed the children, help the children...anything and everything for the children.

Yet, at some times the club seems more a social club than a philanthropic organization. But why not spend good times with those you're compatible with while doing good things for others? Whether packing food boxes for the hungry and homeless, helping organize a children's clothing drive for the impoverished and indigent or spending time with kids who need...well... who just need. Roosters enjoy helping the kids and thus spending time with their fellow Roosters.

I have been involved in philanthropy for 25 years. I have touched or been touched by needs of many including the March of Dimes, JDRF, American Heart Association, American Cancer Society, and the Children's Hospitals of Orange, Los Angeles and San Diego Counties just to name a few. I have always seemed to enter in, participate fully and then fade away. Not so with the Roosters.

I have been involved and dedicated to Roosters for over a decade now. Not because their cause seemed more worthy. Not because I met others who had been affected by their cause. Not because I had a child affected by their cause. But because of the one thing Roosters presents that all of the other charities lack. Friendship and camaraderie. That is the Mission of the Roosters.

"To facilitate and encourage life-long friendships, while performing charitable works on behalf of children in need."

Now you know ...we are all initially the egg... that matures to become the nurturing, strong, guardian of the roost ...the Rooster.

Roosters Creed

An organization that stands for friendship, fellowship, charity and good times. It stands for busy, worldly people who take the time to give those less fortunate a helping hand. It stands for warmth, strength, and shared laughter.

Mission Statement

To facilitate and encourage lifelong friendships while performing charitable works on behalf of children in need.

Mission Statement for the Roosters Foundation of Orange County

To raise necessary funds for disadvantaged and at risk children in the Orange County area and to support public and private programs with necessary services for children in need.

We respectfully request that all Roosters and the friends of Roosters patronize the businesses and establishments that support and foster Roosters charity causes. We are grateful!
